

MARTA GONZÁLEZ-LLORET

Marta González-Lloret is a Professor of Spanish Applied Linguistics at the University of Hawai'i Manoa. She has been teaching for more than 25 years and her research focuses on technology-mediated language learning, Task-based Language Teaching, and L2 pragmatics. She is editor of the NFLRC Pragmatics & Language Learning book series, and co-editor of the TBLT John Benjamins series as well as President of CALICO organization and Secretary of the International Association of TBLT. Her recent work has appeared in Language Teaching, CALICO Journal, the Annual Review of Applied Linguistics as well as several edited volumes. She is currently co-editing the Routledge Handbook of SLA and Technology.

DISCUSSANT

SEMINAR 1. L2 WRITING: INVESTIGATING L2 WRITING, L2 WRITING PROCESSES & FEEDBACK PROCESSING IN PEN & PAPER AND DIGITAL ENVIRONMENTS. RESEARCH INSIGHTS FROM CONTROLLED STUDIES